Chapter 15

"Group souls basically ~~are~~ involve a micro droplet of God energy and this is used to animate an entire species that already has inborn programming, known as instinct. Accomplishing this is easier on a scale of easy to hard. It's just a matter of going along with the programming. Still, group souls make some decisions that are not in line with their programming. This usually results in disease or death of anything from crops to trees and everything inbetween.

Group souls that animate animals have a higher level of sophistication than those that animate plants. With animals, you start to see personality. Some animals have a great deal of outright charisma. They seem quite wise in their knowing. When you observe this, you can be sure that this animal is in its last cycle as part of a group soul. It is ready to individualize. You especially see this with animals that humans keep as companions, especially dogs and cats but not exclusively. There are birds, snakes, lizards, mice, rats, pigs and several other species who may be ready to take the lead towards individualization. You are probably very aware of what I'm talking about here. You can even see this in farm animals like horses, cows and sheep. You can see it in dolphins, most certainly.

The next time you are around an animal, whether it is your beloved companion or one you see on your travels somewhere, take a good look and you will know which ones are ready to make the transition. You will just know.

Next up, individual souls. If you as an individual soul have a strong bond with dogs or cats, it is likely that you have been one in a previous incarnation. Likewise, if you love all animals, it is likely that you have had too many lifetimes to count as animal species. If you don't like animals at all, you probably missed the boat on having this particularly incredible experience." End Time: 8:43 AM

"Individual souls are also micro-droplets of God energy. The difference between individual souls and group souls is about ^{managing the} smaller terrain and much more specific sets of responsibilities. Activating a human body involves constantly challenging it to not choose its operating system. Activating a plant involves always following along with the programming. They are different and can produce wildly different results at the end of the day, in regards to providing an increase. Humans have the potential to provide a huge increase but they also have the potential to do an incredible amount of damage. It can be like high stakes poker. If someone in a difficult situation can just let their light shine through. Too often, the light is obscured to such a degree that it can't and the negative part of the programming can have the potential to destroy potential growth.

With individual souls, God has created an operating system, a choice system that can choose something that is opposite of God's nature, fear. But, fear lives inside God too. Every fearful thought and fearful act is part of God too because love can contain and accept fear too. Where did fear come from? God created the mechanism for the creation of fear, the ego, so you can say and would be correct by saying that God created fear. Why? To challenge itself to grow by not choosing it, by choosing love over it.

Most humans are incapable of truly creating anything but they can be really good at inventing and making things. Humans didn't create fear itself but they increase it everytime they buy into it and make a choice based on it. They misperceive themselves and the world, due to their operating system, but it's the one they were born with. They agreed to be in this reality to overcome their natural operating system and God ^{is the} one who created this operating system, as it has created everything else."

Chapter 17

"During hibernation, everything stops. Everything freezes in mid track. When the next creative cycle continues, the explosion that marks the beginning of it does two things simultaneously. It creates new God heads and it reorganizes source God heads.

Souls, whether they are group or individual provide an increase in God energy and this is redistributed within the new God heads (and there are many). This is where this new collective energy comes from. It comes from souls who have grown from their micro droplet starting point. It is distributed according to strength in the new God heads. Now, the new God heads are ready to begin the work of creating. Remember, all creation is within God, so each God head creates new universes, worlds and forms within its self. There are similarities and differences in what each God head produces.

The important fact for you to realize here at this juncture is that you, yes, little of you, is helping to create a new part of God right now, as we speak. Think of this as a high yield certificate of deposit at a bank. It's the interest that is redistributed to form the new God head.

But what about you or what about any soul who produces an increase, and they all do, if only negligibly? What will happen to you? You will finish what you started. Going back to the New York City shopping experience, you will either decide to buy the coat or save your credit card. Some grief and just keep on walking. Maybe you will stop for a coffee and a snack but the point is that your life will go on as it has. You will be like a crop that has been harvested, the apples have been picked and you (the tree) keep growing new apples for next season's harvest.

Next up, the end of that lifetime."

Chapter 18

"The end of a lifetime is when decisions must be made. There are many, many opportunities to serve and grow. Returning to form is an attractive option to many but there are other options as well. If a soul has raised its vibration to surpass the median level of humanity, then the sky is the limit. There is no glass ceiling in God. If a soul has reached the Christ level in form then there isn't any value in returning. It has a 'been there done that' kind of feeling to the few who have made it that far.

The individuality that most in form cherish is something that souls can keep for as long as they choose to, even as they move up through the ladder of dimensions. All souls are part of God as God is part of God. Every micro-droplet of God is vitally significant to the whole. Isn't it amazing to find out all of this that you are part of God and that you help God grow more of God? Pretty amazing stuff.

Now, let's go back and take a good look at all that has transpired during this creative cycle of billions of years. The focus was on movement and relationship. How can one thought of God help another part of God? How much positive influence can be exerted?

Big picture ideas concerned family dynamics and roles within prehistoric man, which was a project that started during the previous creation cycle. Animal life was also primitive. The focus there was on adaptation. Dinosaurs lived as long as the earth would support them but we knew that they would have to either adapt or face extinction because the earth would primarily house humans and smaller animals.

Large amounts of time and energy go into the details of any kind of plant, creature or element. It is our nature to work as a team of scientists when we create."

Chapter 19

"Every hair is meticulously crafted from every hair follicle. Our time at the drawing board is time outside of time which is much slower than your time but we have to take your time into consideration because that's where the creation will manifest. That's where the creation will eventually self sustain.

There have been many creation cycles that were strictly drawing board type of creation cycles with no actual manifestation yet. Manifestation always starts with a fully functioning prototype that is ready to be infused with a micro-droplet of God energy, so it can then be self-sustaining and help the micro-droplet of spirit to grow.

By using the word 'grow', I mean two things. At one level, a micro-droplet of God, a group or individual soul, grows ~~by~~ through experience and becomes strengthened by the experience. Animating form is like weight lifting. The spirit grows muscle mass every time it has one of these experiences, whether it is that of a plant, animal or humanoid type of form.

There is a second way that spirit grows. It produces an aura that extends beyond the spirit. This aura is what is collected and redistributed to create new God heads at the beginning of a creation cycle. The spirits can shed them because they then create new ones with each new endeavor they take on.

Don't worry, to go back to the New York City shopper again, he or she will not be involved in this process yet. His spirit will keep his aura until he's ready to shed it and create a new one. The aura that will eventually be shed will be stored until the ending of the next dormant period and the beginning of the next creation cycle which of course starts with the explosive creation of new God heads.

Chapter 20

"Believe it or not, we've just scratched the surface of our massive topic of creation. To review, we explained about creation cycles, dormant cycles and the fact that there have been a considerable amount of these, covering hundreds of billions of years in actual and suspended time.

We talked about exactly how God reproduces itself and that each creation period has a creation theme. We talked about group souls, individual souls and how they strengthen themselves and provide an increase that is used to create new God heads.

We haven't really talked about the nature of God and the nature of each micro-droplet individual or group soul yet. We also haven't talked about the intelligence of God and who we are. Sometimes, I used the first person and sometimes I used 'we'. Who Am I and who are we?

I saved the best for last. We still have a way to go but we are going to give the hand we are using a break. We will return in one week's time and the next ~~session~~ section will start off with an introduction on who I Am and who we are.

Stay tuned. The story is just getting started.
